The school is responsible for the students during school hours. This responsibility includes protecting each student's constitutional rights, assuring due process in questioning, and protecting students from any form of illegal coercion.

Police Action. When police are investigating possible criminal acts that may have occurred, they may question students at school according to the following procedures:

- 1. Representation of local, state or federal law enforcement agencies must identify themselves to the satisfaction of the Principal, or, in his absence, the Principal's designee, e.g., a Head Teacher. Lacking such identification, the Principal may deny entrance to school grounds.
- 2. Students will be questioned as confidentially and inconspicuously as possible.
- 3. An attempt will be made to notify the student's parents or guardians so that they may be present during questioning. The Principal, or the Principal's designee, will be present during questioning.

Department of Children and Families Action. In any questioning or other action initiated by the Department of Children and Families, the rules and regulations of the Department of Children and Families will be strictly followed.

The Superintendent is directed to communicate with local law enforcement agencies to effect necessary cooperation toward ensuring the security of the school facilities and the safety of students and staff.

REGULATION

This regulation is intended to balance the needs of school and police officials. The reduction of ambiguity and confusion in how these officials interact will provide an optimal environment for education while ensuring that the public safety needs of the school and community are adequately met.

Generally, police should be notified immediately of any crime. Police will make every attempt to minimize distractions or disruption of school routines during the performance of their duties. There may be instances where the transgression is so slight that the school administrator can resolve the issue himself/herself. Examples of crimes that fall into this category are theft of pocket change, minor vandalism, or minor physical altercations in which there is no injury or pain inflicted upon either participant.
